microsoft needs to have a stronger penalty applied to them, while i myself am a windows user, microsofts behavior about their actions is very unbecoming... you may one day hear the argument "just because we make the most popular lighter in the business, doesnt mean that we have a monopoly on the lighter industry".. but when the microsoft corporation adopted the attitude "we are the best, to he** with the rest", thats pitiful, it shows that they have no desire for competition, they WANT to be a monopoly, period..
